

ROYAL INTEROCEAN LINES

The Royal InterOcean Lines Flag is the proud bearer of our colours to many ports throughout the Far East and the Southern Hemisphere, a familiar sight in places as far removed from each other as Yokohama and Buenos Aires, Capetown and Melbourne. This houseflag is not merely a means of identification for R.I.L. vessels; it is also a symbol of experienced ocean-going service and maritime tradition.

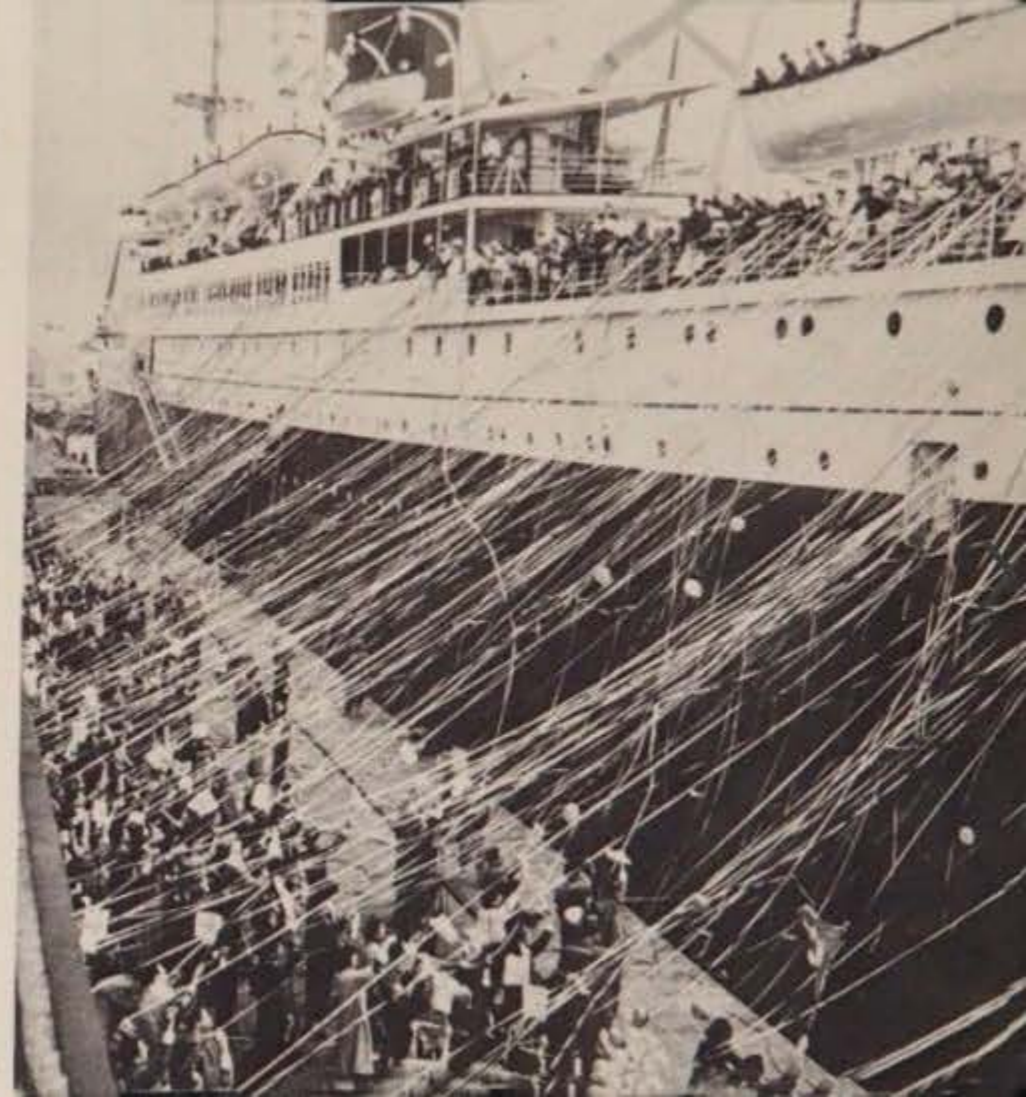

Royal InterOcean Lines—A Netherlands Shipping Company—have an unrivalled history which reaches back for more than half a century. From modest beginnings the R.I.L. fleet has continually expanded, and to-day the Company operate 50 modern vessels, the majority of which offer comfortable accommodation, together with the traditional Dutch hospitality, tastefully furnished with pleasing decor, inviting pleasant interludes of relaxation among congenial companions. The cuisine aboard R.I.L. ships is of high international standard—varied, well-balanced, and prepared with originality under the supervision of experienced Dutch chefs.
